

EMPLOYER-SPONSORED INSURANCE

The employer-sponsored insurance market is the most effective system of delivering healthcare benefits in the United States, with more than 177 million Americans currently receiving their health insurance from their employer. Employee insurance premiums are currently untaxed. Adjusting this could be catastrophic to the employer-sponsored insurance system.

STABILIZATION OF THE INDIVIDUAL MARKET

Current challenges in the individual health insurance market, if left unresolved, pose a systemic threat to the broader health insurance industry, including the stable and well-functioning employer-sponsored segment. A healthy individual market is important for all constituencies within the industry—U.S. businesses, employees and individual market enrollees.

The Council's Government Affairs team gave an update on where things stand on Capitol Hill heading in what appears to be a busy month of December. Republicans are attempting to get their tax bill done this week, and that legislation has widespread implications on the healthcare market, including:

- Repeal of the individual mandate: all eyes on Sen. Susan Collins of Maine
- ACA cost-sharing subsidies
- Cadillac Tax – likely to get delayed another two years but we're still hoping for full repeal
- Pass-throughs for S-corporations – click here for more.

Electoral politics seem to be driving a lot of what is taking place as Republicans need a deliverable heading into 2018.

Other items being discussed around town:

- Reintroduction of legislation to eliminate the Medical Loss Ratio.
- Employer reporting requirement
